

ADVENTURES IN ALBA

Example Campaigns — Ready-to-run adventures and a small linked campaign for Adventures in Alba

ADVENTURES IN ALBA

Scottish fairy myth, classic fantasy adventure, gentle danger, and table rules made for brave Adventurers.

How CAMPAIGNS WORK

A campaign for this age is a string of friendly episodes. Each session should have a clear helper, a magical place, one puzzle, and one warm ending.

Campaign rhythm: arrive, discover, help, celebrate.

Length: 20–40 minutes per adventure. Stop while adventurers still want more.

- Start with a read-aloud box.
- Ask one choice at a time.
- Use three scenes: arrive, discover, help.
- End with a sticker, drawing, or named promise.

Minute	What to do
0–5	Read the hook and ask what the heroes notice.
5–15	Meet a creature or obstacle with a feeling.
15–30	Try two or three adventurer ideas, rolling only for exciting moments.
End	Name the friend helped and draw one treasure.

CAMPAIGN: THE BELLS UNDER THE HEATHER

Three fairy bells have gone quiet, and the glen is forgetting its bedtime songs.

Adventure 1: The Lost Moon-Bell

Read aloud: “The moon is stuck in the loch like a silver coin. A young kelpie foal stamps at the water and tries not to cry.”

- Meet the nervous kelpie foal.
- Search reeds, stones, or bubbles for clues.
- Return the bell by singing, wading, or asking the loch nicely.

Idea	Stat
Step onto slippery stones	Agility
Comfort the foal	Wis
Hold the rope in a gust	Strength
Notice bubbles making an arrow	Wis
Promise to bring the bell back	Luck

- The kelpie foal carries everyone one careful step across the shallows.
- The loch hums the first note of the bedtime song.
- A wet map reveals the next path when it dries.

Scenes

Roll moments

Ending choices

ADVENTURE 2: THE GRUMPY BRIDGE

Read aloud: “The bridge folds its stony arms. ‘No crossing,’ it rumbles, ‘unless someone remembers how to laugh politely.’”

Reward: the bridge teaches the party the safe stepping rhythm: clap, step, clap, step.

- The bridge is not mean; it is embarrassed because moss covers its carvings.
- Adventurers can clean, joke, sing, draw, or ask what happened.
- A wobble makes the bridge sneeze pebbles, not hurt anyone.

Extra clues

- Moss hides a carved smiling face.
- The bridge remembers adventurers who thanked it long ago.
- A silver fox waits on the other side with dry socks.

ADVENTURE 3: THE THISTLE CROWN

Read aloud: “A tiny sprite wears a crown too big for its head. It declares itself King of All Paths, then whispers, ‘Do I look brave?’”

The sprite is scared of guarding the path alone. It needs help making a promise flag.

- Make a tiny flag.
 - Share a brave story.
 - Ask another creature to visit.
 - Let the sprite choose a less lonely job.
-
- The crown slips over the sprite’s eyes.
 - The path grows extra thistles, but they smell like jam.
 - The sprite declares a snack break and forgets to be bossy.

What is really happening?

Good solutions

If the heroes wobble

MINI CAMPAIGN TRACKER

Session	Bell or promise	Friend made	Drawing space
1	Moon-Bell
2	Bridge rhythm
3	Thistle Crown promise
Finale	Bedtime song returns

Finale idea: every friend returns and adds one sound to the bedtime song: splash, clap, rustle, giggle, bell.

If time is short

Run only the hook, one helpful creature, and the warm ending.

If adventurers want more

Let them draw the new friend, then turn the drawing into the next adventure hook.

CAMPAIGN MAP: ALBA AT WAR AND WONDER

Use the map to choose roads, clan lands, fairy woods, Norse seas, and the southern Dominion border.

TOWN AND DUNGEON MAP

Drop this spread into any session: village, keep, harbor, fairy mound, loch shrine, cave, and watchtower.

Campaign 2: The Red Banner Road

Premise: Redcloak agents from the Dominion of Albion have crossed the southern road to tax villages, measure fairy hills, and seize mythral relics.

Six-session arc

Session	Episode	Main pressure
1	Taxes at Kettleford Bridge	Redcloak patrol demands coin and maps.
2	The Stolen Standing Stone	Albion surveyors move a fairy boundary marker.
3	Warg with the Iron Collar	Free a border warg from command magic.
4	Clan Moot under Rain	Unite rival clans without starting a feud.
5	Raid on the Red Supply Cart	Rescue prisoners, charms, and stolen maps.
6	The Banner That Lied	Break an enchanted conquest banner.

Villain note

The Dominion of Albion is a fantasy imperial faction. Do not say every southerner is evil; make the villains the army, greedy nobles, cursed banners, and officials trying to erase Alba's names.

Scene tools

Redcloak patrol 2 guards, 1 tax-mage, one nervous local guide.	Moral choice Rescue prisoners now, or steal the map that saves three villages later?
Magic problem The banner makes locals forget their own hill names.	Reward Clan reputation, a freed warg ally, or a red-sealed map.

CAMPAIGN 3: LONGSHIPS IN THE MIST

Premise: Norse-style sea raiders, traders, and oath-ghosts arrive from the northern isles. Some want trade, some want plunder, and some are dead but still rowing.

Harbor Hook

A longship appears with no crew, one blue lantern, and a shield carved with a broken oath.

Friendly Viking

Jorunn Wave-Smith wants peace, trade, and help laying her ancestor draugr to rest.

Raider Threat

Skull-Sail Rurik steals bells because he thinks they command fairy weather.

Sea Magic

Runes, whale-road maps, storm knots, salt charms, oath rings, and ghost anchors.

Episodes

- The Empty Longship
- Market Day under Axes
- Draugr in the Sea Cave
- The Storm-Knot Duel
- Feast-right at the Clan Hall
- The Oath-Raiders Rest

Sea encounters

1	Fog hides a friendly trader and a hostile raider.
2	A seal-spirit demands the party judge an oath.
3	Draugr row beneath the boat at midnight.
4	A storm knot must be untied with song.

Campaign 4: The Barbarian Queen of the North

Premise: The storm-clans beyond the high passes are called barbarians by outsiders, but they have laws, poets, healers, and old reasons to distrust lowland kings.

Key NPCs

Name	Role	What they want
Queen Maev Stormbraid	Clan war-leader	Return of a stolen clan cauldron.
Old Duthac	Oath poet	Someone to remember the true story.
Bran of the Broken Axe	Hot-headed champion	A fair duel, not a massacre.
Eithne Rowan-Seer	Seer	The Thorn Court kept out of clan dreams.

Adventure structure

- Prove guest-right by sharing food.
- Solve a stolen-cauldron mystery.
- Stop a duel using truth, not force.
- Enter the storm cairn and face an oath monster.
- Choose whether clans join Alba against the Dominion.

Clan customs

Guest-right	Food shared means no one may attack under that roof.
Truth-song	A bard may settle disputes by singing the true version.
Fair challenge	A duel can be riddle, wrestling, race, poem, or shield-hold.

ENCOUNTER MAPS AND TRAVEL PROCEDURES

Travel turn

- Pick route: road, moor, loch, forest, coast, old Roman road, fairy path.
- Choose pace: careful, normal, urgent.
- Roll one travel event if the route is dangerous.
- Mark food, weather, one rumor, and one map change.

Map symbols

Castle	law, soldiers, taxes
Cairn	oaths, ghosts, memory
Loch	water magic, kelpies, secrets
Longship	raids, trade, oaths

Travel events

1	Redcloak patrol measuring land.
2	Norse trader offers a cursed bargain.
3	Barbarian scouts test guest-right.
4	Fairy ring moves the road.
5	Monster sign: claw marks, cold fog, iron feathers.
6	Helpful local: shepherd, fisher, brownie, corbie messenger.