

ONE-PAGE RULES

Core roll

- Say what your Adventurer tries.
- Choose Strength, Int, Agility, Wis, or Luck.
- Roll d6 + stat bonus.
- 1–3 wobble: it works badly or costs something.
- 4–5 yes, but: success with a twist.
- 6+ bright success: clean success plus a little advantage.

Only roll when the answer is exciting. If the idea is kind, clever, and safe, let it work.

Turn order

- Everyone says one idea before dice.
- One helper may give +1 if they describe how.
- HP is bumps/tiredness. MP fuels spells.
- At 0 HP, rest, get rescued, or accept a story cost — no gore.

Stats

Strength	lift, hold, protect
Int	runes, plans, puzzles
Agility	sneak, dodge, climb
Wis	notice, comfort, understand
Luck	charms, surprises, fairy chances

Goal

Help nervous animals feel safe, then draw the friend you made.

DRAW YOUR ADVENTURER

STARTER ADVENTURE: THE MOON-BELL AT KETTLEFORD

Read aloud

The Kettleford bridge is folded shut like grumpy arms. A moon-bell hangs beneath it, ringing underwater, while a wet fox points at bubbles.

What is really happening

A red wax tax charm made the bridge forget its name. The moon-bell can wake it if returned to the top stone.

Three clues

- Bubbles spell the bridge name backwards.
- The fox has red wax on one paw.
- A cairn goat keeps staring at the loose keystone.

Three solutions

- Sing the bridge name while lifting the bell.
- Break the red wax seal with clean water.
- Ask the fox to lead them under the safe arch.

Wobble results

- Muddy boots and -1 Agility until cleaned.
- The bell rings too loudly and wakes a redcap.
- The bridge opens halfway, making a silly steep ramp.

Bright success

The bridge opens fully, the fox becomes a guide, and the moon-bell marks the map.

Reward

1 silver, Bridge-Friend badge, and a companion hook: earn the cairn goat by finding its lost bell.
